IN A TRUNK.

THE HIDING PLACE CHOSEN FOR HER LOVER.

Police Court Develops a New Phase in the Way of a Sensational Romance.

Last night the police had a "hide and go to seek" game with Wm. Siebe, who was up this morning in police court. He seems to have a way of his own, he and the dusky sinner whom he visits, of evading the police.

Of late Siebe, who is tough, has been giving the officers a good deal of trouble, and they have frequently wondered how he could give them the slip as easily as he has been in the habit of doing. Last night Officers Shackles and Thomas saw him walking northward, and decided to follow him. He entered a colored dive on the north side of the track and the officers quickly followed. Not a thing could they see of Siebe, however; he had disappeared as mysteriously as if the ground had opened and swallowed him up; knowing he was in the house somewhere the officers commenced a search and when they had almost given up, Officer Eckles saw a large trunk standing on one side of the room and opened it up when, lo! the "Jack in the box" in the shape of Siebe bobbed up, and was marched off to the cooler.

He was held on a charge of associating with lewd characters, and pleading not guilty, had his case set for July 8th.

Geo. Walker, when called on to say whether he was guilty of being intoxicated or not said he had been jumping from "jag to jag" for the past two weeks so thought he must be guilty but would like to have a stay as he only required 20 minutes to get out of the city. The Judge took pity on him and told him to skip.

Florence Jackson, Emanuel Givens and Maggie Britt, charged with lewd conduct, asked to have their case set for July 8th.

Wesley Perry, Wm. Beachin, Will Jackson and Ike Palmer ran up against a $25 fine each for gambling.

Judge Levens officiated this morning in place of Judge Rauck, who is out of the city.

Gilbert Rickert, drunk, was fined five dollars.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Two former Sedalians prominent in the arrangements for the assembly.

Mrs. M. V. Neet and daughter, Miss Mamie, are thus referred to by the Warrensburg Star, in connection with the Chautauqua assembly, beginning there next week:

The Kindergarten opens on the 8th. There is much enthusiasm among the persons interested in this delightful work. A large and pleasant room is especially fitted up for the little ones. Miss Neet will be found a most accomplished teacher. Mrs. Neet has secured an accomplished, experienced teacher of physical culture, Delsarte system, to assist her in her department. We will be surprised if Mrs. Neet does not have all the pupils she can accommodate from the opening of her school till the close.

Base Ball.

The Warrensburg team beat the Manhattan club of Kansas City this week, and are consequently much elated, as the latter are the champion amateurs of their town. The Star of Warrensburg says the Mannhattans are the strongest team that has played there this season.

By The Local Union.

Delegates out side of town who expect to attend the Y. P. S. C. E. convention at New York with the Sedalia excursionists will be entertained Monday night during their stay in the city by the local union.

Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McRorey gave a party last night in honor of their daughter, Miss Tassie's ninth birthday. Miss Tassie received quite a number of presents from her friends. It was a great occasion for the young folks and all enjoyed themselves hugely.

Following is a list of those who attended:

Misses Philia Cruz, Mary Clony, Mary Snoboda, Dell Eckles, Annie Young, Francis Schrankler, Mary Russell, Effie and Eda Linquist, Fay Hulland, Carrie Burkhardt, Mina and Dollie Weiss, Allie Pope, Clara Kemp, Lola Dillard, Hattie Gray, Flora Fisher, Sarah Payne, Minnie and Ida Sigerdol, Edna Sheldon, May West, Lottie, Cora and Fannie Krensky. Masters: Ernie McGhee, George McRorey, E. Kemp, Clel Sewell, Richard Holland, Hugo Lenquest.

PIONEER OF PETTIS.

Wm. Agee, Who Laid Out The Town of Dresden, Here.

Mr. Wm. Agee and wife, of Fayetteville, Arkansas, are here on a visit to relatives and old time friends.

Mr. Agee formerly lived in Pettis county—in fact was one of the pioneer citizens, having migrated here from Kentucky as early as 1836.

Locating near the present site of the town, he himself laid out Dresden and lived there for a period of 43 years.

It was his intention to make it the great central town of the state, but the Queen City was more successful in the struggle for supremacy. On account of bad health Mr. Agee went to Arkansas some years ago where he has since continued to live, though he is candid enough to admit that Missouri is one of the best in the galaxy of sovereign states.

Mr. Agee is an uncle of William Thomas and Leslie Courtney.

The Rinear Case.

Speaking to a DEMOCRAT reporter about the mystery surrounding the disappearance of T. C. Rinear, the marble cutter, Judge Lay, of Warsaw, insinuated that he had an explanation different from any yet offered. In other words, the logical inference to what he said savored of a jump-the-town theory.

It seems that several months rent were due the jurist by the young man and as the days roll by other instances of indebtedness are being developed.

Crazy or not crazy, murdered or not murdered, sufficient evidence has already accumulated to disprove statements made at first to the effect that Rinear's accounts were all right, and in the light of the stench coming from Denmark, it is not unfair or unreasonable to suppose that after all, there was method in his madness.

Deaths in Dirt.

Following are the real estate transfers recorded to-day

M. O. Green and wife to Harry Sneed, all of block 23 in town of Smithtown. Price $1,600.

Wm. Gossage and wife to Mary E. Harrington; lot 55 in the western division of Dresden. Price $600.

S. E. and W. J. Hockaday to the Porter Real Estate Co; lot 2 in block 10, Hale and Gentry's add. Price $600.

Justice Courts.

Henry Hickman, for assaulting Vance Smith, was fined $1.00 and costs.

For deserting his child J. S. Briggs was fined $50. He went to jail.

Mrs. Margaret Barnes complained before Judge Fisher that a man named Dunn, formerly employed by the Whipple Coal company, had defrauded her out of 50 cents by misrepresentation.

Ice Cream.

Can be gotten at the East Sedalia reading room any evening, Tuesday excepted, this week. This cream is sold for the benefit of the reading room and the ladies should be well patronized. Room corner Third and Montgomery streets.

Get Some Fireworks.

No fireworks in Sedalia on the Fourth is like a circus without red lemonade. What's the matter with stirring our stumps and having some fireworks on that night? Let's celebrate in style while we're at it.

Buy ice cream and confections of Callies, on Lamine street. Also a nice line of fire-works.

Dr. M. L. Smith, Specialist, Oculist and Scientific Optician. Practice limited exclusively to the eye. Office corner Fourth and Ohio streets, Sedalia, Mo.

A Young Baby Deer.

The deer enclosure at Forest park has a new tenant—a beautiful baby deer that made its appearance a few days ago. Take the childer out and let them see the deer.

Administratrix.

In Probate Judge Hoy's office to-day Mrs. Nancy E. Westlake qualified as administratrix of the estate of her husband, W. C. Westlake, deceased.

MAY RECOVER.

The Brakeman Who Fell from the Window at Hannibal.

It seems that the man who fell from the second story of a building in Hannibal yesterday was not so seriously injured as was reported, though he is far from being out of danger.

The man's name is Charles Munson and he was a brakeman. On the arrival of the Katy from the north this morning, a DEMOCRAT reporter was informed that the brakeman had been restored to consciousness and there yet remained hope for his recovery.

Speaking of the accident—mention of which was made exclusively by the DEMOCRAT—the Hannibal Journal of yesterday has the following to say:

At 3 o'clock this morning the body of a man was found lying in front of Fred Gerkin's store on Main street. It proved to be Chas. Munson, a brakeman on the K. line, who roomed above that store. He had been called by the watchman at 12 o'clock, but was not aroused, and it is supposed that he waked up afterwards and started to walk in his sleep, stepping out of the second story window and falling to the pavement. A physician was promptly called, but was unable to determine the extent of his injuries. A severe concussion is certain, and perhaps a fracture of the skull. He struck on the right side of his face, and a large pool of blood denotes the spot where he struck the pavement.

SAYMAN'S CONCERT.

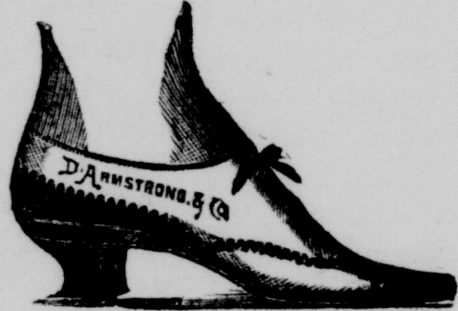

Entertainment Last Night for the Benefit of the Hospital.

As was announced, the Sayman Concert company gave an open air performance last evening for the benefit of the charity hospital fund.

Dancing, comic acting and musical specialties constituted the order of exercises, and all were royally entertained. Mr. Sayman and his supporters deserve the thanks of all true Sedalians for their generosity. The receipts footed up some $35.

Five Years.

Sheriff W. H. Collins, of Warrensburg, Johnson county, passed through this morning having in custody George Peyton, a young white man whom he was conveying to the penitentiary. Peyton was convicted of arson and will wear stripes five years.

Ripans Tabules purify the blood.

Supper at the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wells entertained a small band of friends at Forest park last evening in honor of their guests, Misses Baker, Hart and Cole, who have been in the city several days.

After serving a delicious spread, an hour was spent in whatsoever sport the occasion and surroundings suggested.

In a foot race between Misses Munroe and Hart, the contest was decided to the former, she having easily outdistanced her competitor.

Among those who gathered at the festal board were Dr. A. V. Small and wife, Mrs. Olive Small, Misses Sue Parberry, Virginia Hart, Helen Cobb, Jennie Baker, May Small, Lulu Munroe, and Messrs. J. S. Langhorne, Paul White, J. M. Brown and Harry Hawkins.

CLOSING EXERCISES

Of the Sedalia School of Music—Miss Duncan Congratulated.

The second and final musical entertainment for the year was given by the Sedalia school of music last night at the Christian church.

A larger audience was in attendance than on the former occasion. At the conclusion of the exercises Miss Jennie Duncan, of Windsor, was formally graduated, Rev. J. S. Myers conferring on her a diploma. "Belfrey Tower," a chorus participated in by the class was the first exercise of the evening. Next came a duet by Misses Corinne Warren and Florence Stafford, after which Misses Jackson, Knowles, Duncan, Wolf, Goff, Barnett, Miles and Hall, Frey and Jael Gentry, assisted by the teacher Miss Warren and Mrs. N. H. Gentry performed. The exercises throughout were highly enjoyed.

A Good Showing.

Marshal DeLong, assisted by his able corps of officers, has been raking in the shekels for the city since April 11th. The number of arrests made is unusually large, being 439, with a total of $1,082.86 paid fines. Mr. DeLong has been marshal less than three months and according to these figures he and his officers have made the city enough each month to pay their salaries.

Run Over.

John Henry Summers, the well known peddler, came near receiving serious injuries last evening. While crossing Ohio between Second and Main he was run over by a buggy occupied by three small girls. Fortunately his injuries were slight.

Much Improved.

The many friends of Miss Kate Walsh will be glad to hear of her convalescence. She is able to sit up to-day and is thought to be well on her way to her former good health.

Golden City has a sensation. A dentist set up shop there and he and his wife became very popular. A brother-in-law of the wife happened along, however, who swore out warrants for the two for adultery, claiming they were not married, and that the woman was the wife of a man in Chicago. She was tried and fined $250 but appealed. The dentist plead guilty and was fined $50. The dental practice in Golden City is for sale.

NEW UNIFORMS.

A Leavenworth Tailor to Make Them Next Week.

Much has been said about the new uniforms of the Sedalia Rifles, but it is assured now that the Rifles will be seen in their new outfit at an early day.

Capt. Demuth has secured some Leavenworth tailors, who will be here Tuesday to do the work, and the boys are all guaranteed a perfect fit. That they will loom up at the Chicago encampment is certain, and Sedalians will know that they have one of the best drilled and finest appearing companies in the camp.

FINE WORK.

An Establishment That Deserves a Liberal Patronage.

The wear and tear on clothes is a great drawback to many laundries. The clothes are sent to them in good repair, but when they come back they look like they had been run through a threshing machine. The Empire Steam Laundry is noted for the care they take of clothes and they never fail to elicit the approval of their patrons. The gloss they put on shirts is something worth seeing; it is superb. Just remember them Monday and telephone them to call for your laundry.

Will Move to Parsons.

F. E. Newell came up from Parsons for the double purpose of celebrating the Fourth and of shipping his household effects to that benighted village.

OVER MISSOURI.

The Marshall post-office has had its master's salary increased from $1,900 to $2,000.

The wheat harvest of Missouri, now in progress, is a rich one and will yield bountifully.

Vernon county reports a fairly good oats crop, with corn clean, growing well, but a little backward.

Patriotism will make itself felt all over Missouri on the Fourth. One town, Golden City, has a pie-eating contest as one of its attractions.

It's a great fad now to organize democratic clubs, and it is being done in all parts of the state. Democracy will be the leading fad of Missouri this year.

A Missouri paper, the Warsaw Times, has found that the Cobden club is the most menacing organization with which the American laborer has to cope. American laborers are dying out by hundreds from kidney trouble got while wrestling with this great monster, the Cobden club.

Golden City has a sensation. A dentist set up shop there and he and his wife became very popular. A brother-in-law of the wife happened along, however, who swore out warrants for the two for adultery, claiming they were not married, and that the woman was the wife of a man in Chicago. She was tried and fined $250 but appealed. The dentist plead guilty and was fined $50. The dental practice in Golden City is for sale.

A SAUSAGE FACTORY.

Another Enterprise Added to Sedalia's Credit by One of the City's Foremost Business Men.

Sedalians are fast coming to the front in the ways of new enterprises and this week has added another to the list. John G. Kehl, the popular butcher, has decided to enlarge one branch of his business and to push it both in the city and the surrounding country, and for that purpose has engaged an expert sausage maker, who has been in the employ of Swift & Co., both in Chicago and Kansas City for the past five years.

Mr. Kehl proposes to make all kinds of sausage, such as bologna, wienerwurst, head cheese, blood, liver and the very best fresh pork sausage. He can compete with anyone in the state on prices, both wholesale and retail, and only asks the merchants and people of the city to give him a trial.

Fresh sausage will be made every day and the people can have it by calling at stall No. 1 in the market house or by telephoning 98.

Mr. Kehl has the best of fresh and salted meats, fine corned beef and pickled pork, and cordially invites the public to give him a call. His prices are as low as the lowest.

Low Prices.

Low prices tell in whatever business men are in, and the low prices quoted by L. Bahner the past week were sufficient to greatly increase his trade. He offers lard at 8 cents per pound and you would have to pay 10 anywhere else in the city.

His meats are strictly first class and always kept cool. Don't forget his Wednesday's sales, which are held and managed the same as last summer. Give a call and be convinced that he is selling meats at low prices.

Fireworks twenty five per cent. lower than any other house in town at Eastey's.

A New Car House.

Men are at work to-day on a new car house just south of the old one on Ninth street. The new cars for Third street will soon be here, and there was not room enough in the old house to store them at night.

Judge Metsker is pushing things, and if Third street is paved in time for the fair, he will be ready to accommodate the people with his electric.

The EVENING DEMOCRAT is always in the lead.

NO PAPER MONDAY.

Monday being Independence Day, the DEMOCRAT will issue no paper. It is a day which should be considered by Americans with that deference which its solemn but glorious associations suggest, and nothing should be done that will tend to efface any of its patriotic influences. The DEMOCRAT force will observe the day, and therefore not appear again until Tuesday evening.

MAN AND MONEY.

Money has no value.
Money is an agent, an adopted measure.

It is one of the great evils of our system of education that money should be exalted as a fundamental basis, while man is regarded as an agent to demonstrate the power of money.

Wheat has a value, because it is bread.

Wool and iron is valuable, because it serves to warm and protect man.

Gold and silver is valuable as useful metals. Neither is money, nor is either in itself a standard of values, unless—

Government so proclaims it, and stamps the magnitude of its power upon its face.

Money is a creature of government.

The American congress, together with the president of the United States could destroy the purchasing power of gold at any time.

As a people we must discontinue the worship of money and depend more upon man.

Man, by his labor, fixes the standard of value. And when any other standard is set up it is a false standard. The amount and character of labor is the true standard. Man is above money, and should be so sustained.

Money, under the vast commercial interests of the country, is indispensable. Gold nor silver is indispensable. But the American government has shown a preference for gold and silver, and under the administration of the party now in power gold alone has been preferred.

Several foreign powers of commercial greatness have set up gold as the standard, and as this standard, serves best the interest of gold men who thrive by the manipulation of the measure of values, the fact that these foreign powers use gold alone is urged to induce this government to make gold the sole foreign standard.

It should not be so. The measure of all values should be regulated by labor.

The value of food products should not be regulated by money, as it is now, but by supply and demand, as it is when money is not an autocratic power.

While labor seeks employment, and industries need its aid; while food products are so plentiful as to be a glut in the market, there should be no idle hands, no hungry mouths. Nor would it be so were not an arbitrary power prohibiting the self-adjustment of conditions. Otherwise conditions would adjust themselves.

The public thought must be turned from money, which is now master and which is properly a means, to man, who is pre-eminently superior, or should be, to all else created, and who should control all means for the increase of his welfare and his happiness.

INDECENCY.

There is a great demand for decency in politics, and yet in some of the virtuous journals vehemently demanding a higher plane of combat in this year's politics we already find caricatures representing an overgrown hat with a long-tailed rodent supported by it; headlines alluding to "copperhead records;" and all kinds of contemptible allusions to the personalities of the candidates representing the two great parties.

Indecency is never more repugnant than in this sort of warfare.

The people do not want this sort of discussion. The people want real decency, and they are coming to look upon the cant of newspapers demanding decency and indulging in indecency with the proper contempt and distrust.

The men nominated are personally strong men. But even were they not, the individuality of the candidates is not in question, so far as individuality is concerned. They represent principles, and it is but decent to confine the discussion to these principles.

Mr. Reid, for instance, is objected to because he is what is termed a "rat," or one who refuses to employ labor affiliating with organizations. Indecency terms him a "rat." Decency discusses the question of his representing principles opposed to organized labor.

Logically he must oppose organized labor, for he represents a party that has always favored monopoly, has created and fostered powerful corporation interests, has menaced in every way the prosperity of labor. He represents a party which has, under the false shibboleth of "Protection to American Labor," made it possible for wealth to extort from law facilities for increasing profits while at the same time it arbitrarily decreased wages.

Mr. Reid, as being personally antagonistic to organized labor, is a fit representative of his party.

It matters little what a man has represented—what the people are interested in, is the question of what he now represents. It is indecency of a low order to flout the past in any man's face, unless that past must perforce unfit him for the work of the present.

Harrison fitly and honestly represents corporation interests, federal supervision of elections, the right of manufacturers to levy tribute upon the producers of the country, subsidies to class interests, and all that is vicious in government. He fitly and honestly represents Wall street financial policies, high-priced money and consequent low-priced men. Reid stands with him, bravely and honestly, the opposer of organized labor, a disbeliever in the capacity of this people for self-government, a fervent supporter of class divisions of society based solely upon money gradations. He believes fully and sincerely that the man who has the energy and the ability to gain riches is better qualified to enjoy them, is hence a better-born man, than his brother who is not so qualified.

On the other hand Cleveland represents his party in the great idea of equality before the law. He disbelieves in class legislation, is opposed to levying of tribute as tribute, is the champion of popular rights. Stevenson sympathizes in his views, his objects. The two, be they great or no, individually, represent what is great, which is to say, the principles of a great political party, and it is indecent to make a fight for or against them upon any other grounds than that of the principles represented by them and the public records made by them.

WALTER WILLIAMS is writing some clever articles in the Columbia Herald about the editorial trip to the Pacific slope made by the national editorial association. They are full of information of a useful character, and are bright and entertaining as well.

NO LEADER ever had such a powerful hold upon the masses of the people as Cleveland. The confidence in his integrity and conservatism extends to the republican party, and that is one of the great reasons why his success is made so probable.

WHEN the Little Giant hits out in the United States senate gore marks the blow. Senator Hale, Ward Carnegie and Chairman Campbell can each tell the weight of the Missouri senator's maul of discussion.

SEDALIA should pave several streets to the city limits, so as to give good thoroughfares in town to those coming from the country. It will aid wonderfully in getting county roads built.

SEDALIA cannot afford to be disappointed in the completion of the Third street paving. A larger force of men at work would be encouraging on that head.

YESTERDAY was a great day for silver in the senate. The Stewart free coinage bill was passed by that body on a vote of 29 to 25.

GARFIELD CLUB.

Republicans Making Preparations for the Opening of the State Campaign.

The Garfield Republican club met last night for the purpose of making preparations for the republican meeting July 27th, when Major Warner will be present and formally open the state campaign.

Hon. J. H. Bothwell, chairman of the state central committee, presided, while Mint Johns performed the duties of secretary. In the course of his address, Mr. Bothwell stated that the meeting on the 27th promised to be the greatest ever held in Sedalia.

The committees are, as follows: On arrangements—Hon. Henry Lamm, G. W. Burr, Chris. Hye, Cyrus Newkirk and James Ramsey. On Finance—R. H. Moses, W. L. Porter, Z. F. Bailey, G. C. Deckman, H. C. Demuth and W. J. Hoffman.

On Reception—Hon. J. H. Bothwell, Charles Conrad, Adam Fisher, John D. Crawford, C. E. Ilgenfritz and J. A. Davis.

On Newspapers—Theodore Fisher, J. L. Thornton and Charles Botz.

On Railroads—J. C. Thompson, P. H. Sangree, H. G. Clark, W. B. Lyons, A. P. Morey and Robert Richards.

On Processions—S. P. Weller, A. W. Winzenberg, John M. Glenn, James O'Brien and A. W. McKenzie.

On Decorations—Alfred Hunieke, Charles Newell, Albert Tessmer, F. H. Eastey, Will H. Ramsey and James E. Lytle.

These several committees will hold a conference next Tuesday night.

It Saves the Children.

Mr. C. H. Shawen, Wellsville, Kan., says: "It is with pleasure that I speak of the good Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has done my family during the last fourteen years. In the most obstinate cases of summer complaint and diarrhoea among my children it acted as a charm, making it never necessary to call in a physician. I can truthfully say that in my judgment, based on years of experience, there is no medicine in the market that is its equal." For sale by Aug. Fleischmann.

"GRAY GABLES."

CLEVELAND'S CYRE FOR ACUTE CIVILIZATION.

A Station Master Who is a Loyal Friend of the Next President of the United States.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 1.—The stranger who steps from the dusty Old Colony train upon the platform of this queer little station is attracted by the name of "Buzzard's Bay" set in huge white letters in a green terrace before the station. He instinctively looks about him in search of the bay, writes a correspondent of the St. Louis Republic, of which he sees scarcely anything, and then glances upward for the buzzards, of which he sees nothing at all. Disappointed in his first impression he asks the accommodating station-master where he will find Gray Gables, famous hereafter in history and song. The station-master leads him down to the end of the platform and, pointing across a stretch of marsh land and stagnant pools, says: "Do you see that point yonder where the wind-mill rises?" The stranger says he does. "Do you see the low wooden building with no trees around it and the sun burning down upon the shingles?" The stranger sees that also.

"Well, that is Gray Gables, where the next president of the United States spends his summers."

The stationmaster, you observe, is a loyal Cleveland man, and he proceeds to tell how the ex-president spoke to him for the first time: "It was three or four years ago. I was standing here waiting for the down train when along comes Joe Jefferson with a large gentleman I had never seen. They had just been fishing."

"Bassett," says he, taking me by the arm, 'I want you to know my friend, Mr. Grover Cleveland.'"

"Happy to meet you, sir," said Mr. Cleveland, and he gave my hand a regular hearty grip and looked me right in the eyes as if I was worth a million dollars. And he's always treated me like that ever since."

The stationmaster tells this story as many times a day as he can find strangers to tell it to and regrets that there are not more.

HOW YOU MISS YOUR WAY.

Having obtained your bearings you start for Gray Gables, that being, we will assume, the object of your pilgrimage. I may say here that it is easier to start for Gray Gables than to get there, and if Mr. Cleveland's object in choosing this out-of-the-way place for his idling time in hot weather was to cut himself off from the world he has certainly succeeded. There are two ways of reaching your destination—to walk and to ride. As a matter of fact it does not matter much which you do, as you are sure to lose your way in either event. The trouble the uninitiated experience in reaching Gray Gables is due to the fact that the country surrounding it is intersected by a provoking maze of shoots and subshoots from the various arms of Buzzard's bay, which is surely the crookedest bay in all creation. You come to one of these and take it for an innocent little pond until you try to go around it, when you find that it curves into another pond, equally innocent, and so on until you find yourself, after half an hour's walk, on the shores of the open bay, with Gray Gables just across a sort of river, called Monument river.

In order to drive to Mr. Cleveland's place from the station it is necessary first to go two miles and a half in a circle, at the end of which you find yourself just about where you started, but on the other side of the river. Then you can go ahead without further difficulty unless you are stopped by the notice printed on a board at the entrance to Mr. Cleveland's property: "Trespassing and shooting on these premises are positively forbidden. Grover Cleveland."

This warning was put up last summer in consequence of the way in which inquisitive and tactless tourists used to intrude upon the family at all hours, as if they were visiting a public museum. Things have not been much better, however, this season, for ever since Mr. Cleveland's nomination has been scarcely free from prowling artists and photographers, for whom not even Kay, Mr. Cleveland's enormous St. Bernard dog, has had any terrors.

NO SHADY NOOK HERE.

The more you see of Gray Gables the more you are surprised that a man or woman of social disposition would be willing to spend many weeks in it every year. It is not only lonely and difficult of access, but it stands upon a barren point of land where the sun beats down all summer and where the trees are as yet too young to afford shelter from its rays. To be sure, there are piazas in abundance and a breeze is generally blowing in from the bay, but, after all, one must tire of staying always within four walls, with the alternative of being roasted without.

In Mr. Cleveland's case the attraction of Gray Gables is to be found in his passionate love of fishing, and for that he has chosen a spot which could hardly be excelled. The waters of Buzzard's bay inclose the house on three sides, and two boats lie always ready at a rod's distance from the balcony. Rock bass, scup and flounders are to be caught at any time, and few seasons go by without a good run of blue fish. Not even the excitement of the Chicago convention has kept Mr. Cleveland from his excursions down the bay with rod and troll, in all of which he is accompanied by his trusty skipper, Captain Nickerson, who tells endless anecdotes of the ex-president's piscatorial exploits. "I believe he'd rather land a five-pound bass than get the nomination," said Nickerson the day before Mr. Cleveland was nominated.

Another compensation at Gray Gables is the bathing, a house for that purpose with a gallery running out into the water having been erected on the sand about fifty yards from the side piazza. Here Mr. Cleveland may be often seen by early risers taking his sunrise plunge, and Mrs. Cleveland now and then swims beside him. Sometimes they get up bathing parties, and the Jeffersons, their great friends, come over and splash about with them, to the great delight of Baby Ruth, who crows and claps her hands from her jumper on the balcony. These are scenes which have not yet been profaned by the presence of the kodak fiend.

NATURE IN RUGGED ASPECT.

In adding up the attractions of Gray Gables one must not omit the fine view which spreads out morning and night to the south and west, and which is ever revealing new and undetected beauties. On a fair day, with a glass, the dotting islands and inlets of the bay show a changing landscape for miles, and when the wind blows stiff from the southwest the waves dash against the rocks with the fury of the ocean. Years ago they came up with such a wild rush that all the bridges were swept away and great damage was done. There is nothing Mr. Cleveland enjoys more than to sit on his balcony and watch a storm pass over the bay, while the play of the lightning breaks in zig-zag through the angry clouds. The wild beauty of waves and rocks satisfy Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland exactly, although it probably would not satisfy nine persons out of ten as a permanent summer residence. There is never by chance anything "going on" at Buzzard's bay. Even the big arms of the wind-mills turn lazily, as if they knew it made no difference whether they pumped the water fast or not. Gray Gables itself is faultless when considered from the standpoint of comfort. It has all that one needs in the way of easy seats, soft rugs, cool rooms and cosy nooks. To the right of the house there is a creaking windmill, which supplies the place with water, and to the left are the stables, where Benjamin Johnson, the colored boy picked up last winter at Lakewood, presides over the four horses and a good-natured African gron. There is a low black phaeton which Mrs. Cleveland drives and the surrey trap which takes them all out behind Mack and Jerry, Mr. Cleveland's famous team of bays. Tied to a bush near the barn and browsing peacefully is Baby Ruth's pet calf, born of the fine Jersey cow which was presented to Mrs. Cleveland some time since by Farmer Singler, of the Philadelphia Record.

BABY RUTH'S PASTIME.

Sometimes the nurse carries Miss Ruth out on the grass and lets her stroke the calf's white nose and pull its tail, the creature being so gentle that it never objects, but only opens its eyes wider while the baby amuses herself. Two dogs, a big and a little one, complete the picture—the former named Kay, a huge St. Bernard, with a fondness for rushing out freely at strangers, and the other a cute little spaniel, Mrs. Cleveland's particular favorite, and bearing by her decree the immortal name of Gallagher.

There, now, you have seen Gray Gables exactly as I saw it the other day, without the trouble of wandering about among the devious turnings of Upper Buzzard's Bay. You can imagine how the weeks pass by there with drives through the woods, fishing down the bay, plenty of sleep, no noise or worry; newspapers and telegrams reduced to the minimum, no interviews; a few old friends dropping in now and then for a chat; pure air, wholesome food and peace of mind—in short, a capital resting place. Once or twice during the summer Mr. Cleveland goes to the village church, distant about a mile, but Mrs. Cleveland and her mother are to be seen there nearly every Sunday. It is a small wooden building, painted brown, and one of the Methodist persuasion. Parson Davis, an energetic young man, says he never preaches as well as when Mrs. Cleveland is in the congregation, and there is no doubt her presence has a beneficial effect in increasing the attendance, nearly the entire population turning out sometimes to get a good look at "Grover's wife." The parson of this Buzzard's Bay flock is quite a character, by the way, going in for canoeing, amateur photography and various other things in addition to the saving of souls. He is very popular.

CONVENTION ENDED.

Kansas Republicans Finish the Nominations.

A. W. SMITH FOR GOVERNOR.

The Colored Candidate for Auditor—Secretary of State, William J. Edwards—T. F. Garver Attorney-General—Treasurer, J. D. Lynch.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 2.—There was no delay in calling the state republican convention to order yesterday.

During the night the Murdoch, Smith and Morrill leaders had taken but little sleep and many of the delegates showed plainly that they had been industriously electioneered with, but every delegate bore an expectant look.

Chairman Hackney demanded the roll call and Allen county cast a solid vote of nine for Smith.

When Anderson county was called a delegate demanded a poll of the delegation. For three ballots Anderman county had cast nine solid votes for Morrill. The first man called by the secretary of the convention in the poll was L. K. Kirk and he cried out "Smith" in a loud tone. The Smith men, who seemed to have a majority in the lobby, cheered wildly. William Armstrong, the second delegate, voted for Smith and the cheering continued. The fifth delegate voted for Smith, giving the McPherson candidate a gain of three in this delegation. The Smith men waved their hats, coats and handkerchiefs and for several minutes the continuation of the roll call was prevented.

The next county called voted as on the previous ballots and few changes were made until Douglas was reached. This delegation had cast for three ballots a solid vote of 14 for Morrill. The delegation as elected stood, Morrill 8 and Smith 6 and had decided to vote as a unit. When the chairman announced a solid vote of 14 for Smith there was another outburst from the Smith enthusiasts.

There was a clear gain of four for Smith in the Marshall county delegation and another outburst of applause followed.

Ottawa county, which had voted solidly for Riddle, cast its votes for Morrill, and the first congressional district rose as one man and cheered.

The other changes were unimportant, and when the vote of Wyandotte county had been cast, every delegate knew that no nomination had been made. The ballot stood: Smith, 337; Morrill, 270; Murdoch, 105; Riddle, 1; Wright, 7.

This was a clear gain of forty-two for Smith, a Morrill gain of five and a loss of twenty-eight votes for Murdoch over the third ballot taken last night.

The gains made by Smith insured his nomination on the second provided the trades made during the night by the Smith managers and the other candidates for minor offices could be carried out, and as the ballot proceeded the efforts of the Morrill and Murdoch men were confined to attempting to prevent the delivery of Smith goods.

Ford county made the first break for Smith: Crawford county created a diversion by voting ten for Barker. Bill Higgins polled Miami for Smith. Billie Edwards, of Pawnee, and A. R. Ford, of Wyandotte, hustled for the Smith band wagon.

When Reno cast three for Smith and ten for Morrill it put Smith's nomination in the hands of Wyandotte with its seventeen votes. They were cast in a lump for Smith and the crowd went wild. The "farmers" stood upon chairs and yelled themselves hoarse and cast hats to the ceiling for the successful nominee. The announced result was: Smith, 375; Morrill, 179; Murdoch, 50; Wright, 3; Barker, 10.

After order had been restored, Judge Sluss, of Wichita, in behalf of the Sedgwick delegation and the boomers of the Wichita candidate, moved to make the nomination unanimous. Carried.

In order to waste no time it was decided to proceed directly with the balloting for lieutenant-governor without any nominating speeches. The candidates before the convention were F. P. Harkness, of Clay County;

C. H. Kimball, of Labette; R. F. Moore, of Butler, and A. H. Heber, of Meade. The first ballot resulted: Harkness, 218; Moore, 215; Kimball, 192; Heber, 96.

The second ballot resulted: Moore, 289; Harkness, 262; Kimball, 117; Heber, 47; Senator Emery, of Nemaha, 7.

The Morrill men gave a majority of their votes to Moore who had succeeded in casting a majority of the Butler county delegation for the first district gubernatorial candidate. The Smith men were under obligations to Harkness and cast a majority of their votes for the Clay county senator.

At the end of this ballot the names of Heber and Kimball were withdrawn and R. F. Moore, of Butler county, was nominated for lieutenant-governor on the third ballot, which resulted: Moore, 375; Harkness, 345.

The convention then took a recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 2.—The fight over the nomination for secretary of state was inaugurated with the afternoon's session. J. M. Humphrey, of Bourbon county, placed J. R. Smith in nomination; Alexander Warner, of Cherokee county; W. B. Townsend, the negro delegate from Leavenworth county, B. K. Bruce, Jr., editor of the Leavenworth Advocate, the only negro candidate before the convention, calling attention to the fact that the negroes held the balance of power in Kansas, and contending that it would be suicidal not to recognize this large body of voters; O. D. Morse, W. B. Poinsett, chairman of the state penitentiary, and Judge Strong, William Edwards, of Pawnee. The closing speech was a pretty two minutes talk by John K. Cubison, of Wyandotte county, who nominated A. R. Ford, of Kansas City, Kan. The first ballot resulted: Edwards, 217; Bruce, 181; Ford, 159; Hamilton, 117; Smith, 47; Poinsett, 19.

Various candidates dropped out until the fifth ballot, which resulted: Edwards, 467; Ford, 253.

The ballot for auditor proceeded in the evening session with the race clearly between Erue and Best, with Peckler easily distanced. The vote, as announced, was: Bruce, 368; Best, 307; Peckler, 28; Brown, 17.

C. M. Sheldon, of Osage, nominated Joseph R. Drew for treasurer. The third congressional district presented J. B. Lynch's name for consideration. Lynch is a railroad engineer. W. D. Harmon's name, of Washington, was placed before the convention. John H. Madden's name, of Linn county, was presented, and John J. Stewart, of Bourbon, when a question was asked about the business qualification of J. B. Lynch. He was placed on a chair in front of the cheering crowd. The balloting then began and the nomination of Lynch was made by acclamation by a changing of votes after the roll call closed.

On the roll call for candidate for attorney general, Salina county presented the name of T. T. Garver. Judge Kirk, of Garnett, placed B. E. Welch, of Topeka, in nomination, while Gen. T. T. Taylor, of Hutchinson, placed James A. Lawrence's name before the convention. The result as finally announced stood: Garver, 205; Welch, 201; Lawrence, 24.

The complete ticket is as follows:

For governor, Abram W. Smith.

Lieutenant governor, R. F. Moore.

Judge supreme court, D. M. Valentine.

Secretary of state, W. C. Edwards.

Auditor of state, B. K. Bruce.

Treasurer, J. Bruce Lynch.

Attorney general, T. F. Garver.

Superintendent of public instruction, J. C. Davis.

Biographical.

Abram W. Smith, nominated by the republicans for governor of Kansas, was born in Oxford county, Me., October 18, 1818. He was given a common school education, and at the age of 19 entered the nation's service. In September, 1863, he was taken prisoner and was confined at Andersonville prison until April, 1865, when he was paroled and in June mustered from the service. In the fall of the same year he entered the iron regions of Pennsylvania and obtained work at the Cambria mills as a common laborer, but he soon made a fortune. He continued there several years, when he moved west and settled on a farm in McPherson county. Entering politics he soon became recognized and was elected to the legislature five times. The last time he served in this body was in the winter of 1887, he was elected speaker. This distinction brought him into prominence as a candidate for governor four years ago. He was beaten for the nomination by Lyman C. Humphrey, the present governor. Mr. Smith's active engagement in farming until his election to the speakership. He is at the head of the state board of agriculture and the state world's fair bureau.

Robert Moore, the nominee for lieutenant-governor, was first given state prominence two years ago. He came to Kansas in 1855 and settled in Douglas county. In 1870 he moved to Butler county and took up a homestead. He has always been prominent in the local politics of Butler county and has been years chairman of the county central committee. He served in the Seventh Kansas cavalry during the war and will make part of the old soldier campaign. He is a good presiding officer.

Judge Valentine came to Kansas from Iowa in the territorial period, being a poor and struggling young lawyer. He located at Peoria City, in Franklin county, and soon attracted attention and was elected in 1861 to the state senate from the district composed of the counties of Allen, Anderson and Franklin. In 1864 he represented in the senate the district composed of Anderson and Franklin. In 1867 he was chosen district judge and was elected associate justice of the supreme court, and has held the office by successive reelections, receiving the nomination in each case with scarcely a show of opposition. At the close of thirteen and one-half years of service he had prepared 47 opinions—nearly double the number handed down by any other member of the court. When he first came to Kansas he was not exactly a well fed, sleek personage, and one day when he arose to plead before Judge Pettis, the jurist, mistaking him for a prisoner, exclaimed: "Sit down. Your counsel will plead for you."

The trial of M. B. Curtis.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The case of M. B. Curtis, the actor, charged with the murder of Police Officer Alexander Grant last September, was called by Judge Trout to be set for second trial. It was continued until July 23.

The Louisiana legislature has appropriated $38,000 for a state exhibit at the world's fair.

A Nebraska Tornado.

OMAHA, NEB., July 1.—A special from Mason, Neb., says: At 7:30 last evening this town was visited by a cyclone. The wind blew from the southwest, and the people who had been watching the threatening clouds were warned in time to seek places of safety. The damage was about $50,000. No one was killed.

Reports of election rows come from various parts of Ireland. During a fight arising from the burning in effigy of Healy and O'Brien, a Parnellite was stabbed. In Ballina, County Mayo, Mr. John Dillon and Mr. Daniel Critty were pelted with state eggs, cabbages and stones.

Encouraging Crop Reports.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 2.—Hon. E. M. Hewins, of Cedarvale, Kan., president of the Southwestern Cattleman's association, was at the Midland yesterday. He states that the reports regarding the phenomenal wheat and corn crops in Kansas are not exaggerated in the least. He says he knows of his own knowledge of many farmers whose crop of wheat will be ruined if they do not get harvest hands soon. The scarcity of harvest hands is alarming and something must be done to supply the urgent demand. Mr. Hewins brings the most encouraging reports concerning all crops except the fruit crop, which will be a poor one all around.

Noland Gets Another Stay.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 2.—The case of the state against ex-State Treasurer Noland for the embezzlement of state funds was up for hearing in division No. 2 of the supreme court and the court refused to grant a rehearing of the case and also refused a motion to transfer the cause to the court in banc. Attorney Charles L. Noland for the ex-treasurer was present and announced his intention to take the case to the United States supreme court on writ of error. A stay of execution for twenty days was thereupon granted.

Six lives were lost and hundreds of houses inundated by a recent flood at Matanzas, Cuba.

STATE OF SIEGE.

Five Hundred Scouts Guard the Homestead Approaches.

WOULD-BE WORKERS WARNED.

Vast Numbers of Idle Men in the Vicinity

The Carnegie Secretary Says the Firm Will Run Independent of the Association.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 2.—There are beyond doubt more idle men in Pittsburgh and vicinity to-day than there has been at any one time for the past fifteen years.

Five hundred scouts are now guarding the town against the approach of would-be workers and the town is impragnable.

At the request of the iron and steel manufacturers of Pittsburgh, 'district representatives of the manufacturers' committee of the amalgamated iron and steel workers met in conference on the wage question yesterday afternoon. The conference lasted from 3 to 6:30 o'clock and was without result. The time was occupied in arguing the demands of both parties, the manufacturers demanding an acceptance of a $4.40 basis and the Amalgamated $5.50 for boiling iron. No compromise was offered or discussed. The conference adjourned to meet on Wednesday of next week. No settlement of the differences is in sight and the feeling seems to be that a disastrous wage war is at hand.

Three signatures were received at Amalgamated headquarters yesterday as follows: Mitchell & Trantor, Covington, Ky.; Indiana Rolling mill, Muncie, Ind., and Carnegie's Steel mill, Twenty-ninth street, Pittsburgh.

It is estimated that there are now 40,000 idle iron and steel workers on account of the failure of manufacturers to sign the scale.

The number of iron and steel mills that closed down is estimated at upwards of 400. There are 400 rolling mills in the United States, 425 of which have trains of rolls connected with their establishments. Twenty-five or fifty of these have been idle for some time. Of the 400 in operation until last night nearly 300 are situated west of the Allegheny mountains. Quite a number of these have signed the scale, leaving about 250 mills at present lying idle. These employ upwards of 100,000.

The number of glass factories which are not in operation is placed at 200 and the men are estimated at nearly 50,000.

Affairs are quiet at Homestead and in this city. The streets are filled with idle men, but the best of order was maintained.

Hereafter the Homestead Steel works will be operated as non-union works. We shall not recognize the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers in our dealings with the men. The mill will be an open mill where all men will work regardless of their affiliation to a labor organization.

The above is part of a statement made this afternoon by the secretary of the Carnegie Co., limited, the $75,000,000 organization. "It is our purpose," continued Mr. Lovejoy, "to run the mill. It will be an open mill. No doubt there will be a scale regulating employees' wages, but there will be no question as to whether he belongs to a labor organization. We shall do at Homestead as we do at Braddock—deal with the men individually, and no distinction will be made."

The President's Message Accompanying a Communication From the British Government.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Harrison sent this message to the senate yesterday:

For the information of the senate and in further response to the resolution of the senate of February 24 last, I transmit herewith a communication of the 25th inst. from Mr. Herbert, the acting representative of the British government at this capital, addressed to Mr. Whar, acting secretary of state, upon the subject of the Canadian canal tolls, also a memorandum prepared and submitted to me by Mr. Adoe, second assistant secretary of state, reviewing the communication of Mr. Herbert and a letter of the 25th inst. from Mr. John W. Foster, who as I have previously stated, with Mr. Blaine, represented the government in the conferences with the Canadian commissioners. The position taken by this government, as explained in my previous communication to the senate, that the canal tolls and regulations of which complaint has been made are in violation of our treaty with Great Britain, is not shaken at this capital, addressed to Mr. Whar, acting secretary of state, upon the subject of the Canadian canal tolls, also a memorandum prepared and submitted to me by Mr. Adoe, second assistant secretary of state, reviewing the communication of Mr. Herbert and a letter of the 25th inst. from Mr. John W. Foster, who as I have previously stated, with Mr. Blaine, represented the government in the conferences with the Canadian commissioners. OBSERVATIONS.

BY PETRUCHIO.

THE WINNER OF THE RACE.

BY SUSAN MARK SPALDING.

I saw them start, an eager throng,
All young and strong and fleet;
Joy lightened up their beaming eyes,
And one among them so excelled
In courage, strength and grace,
That all men gazed and smiled and cried:
"The winner of the race."The way was long, the way was hard;
The golden goal gleamed far Above the steep and distant hills—
A shining pilot star.
On, on they sped, but while some fell,
Some faltered in their speed,
He, upon whom all eyes were fixed Still proudly kept the lead.But, ah, what folly! See, he stops
To raise a fallen child,
To place it out of danger's way,
With kiss and warning mild.
A fainting comrade claims his care,
Once more he turns aside;
Then stays his strong young steps to be
A feeble woman's guide.And so, wherever duty calls,
Or sorrow or distress,
He leaves his chosen path to aid,
To comfort and to bless.
Though men may pity, blame or scorn,
No envious pang may swell
The soul who yields for love the place
It might have won so well.The race is o'er. Mid shouts and cheers,
I saw the victors crowned.
Some wore Fame's laurels, some Love's flowers.
Some brows with gold were bound,
But all unknown, unheeded stood—Heaven's light upon his face—
With empty hands and uncrowned head,
The winner of the race.

Widows and Re-Marrying.

Not long since I was at the cemetery, I believe on the occasion of Dedication services. While moving about among the graves, where dead people are sleeping, and among the people who were visiting this city of the dead, I heard quite a number of comments of one nature and another."Look at her with her new husband. That's just like a woman.
Weepin' over the dead body of one husband, and afore the red is outen her eyes she's married to another."
I looked up, and I saw a sharp, angular face of thirty-five or thereabouts. It was the property of an angular woman dressed in white.
Narrow, thin lips, drawn close across her teeth. Sharp, gray eyes, set a little too close together, and snapping fire toward a sweet-faced feminine being who leaned confidingly upon the arm of "her new husband."I am not about to write a novel.
Indeed, I shall not refer to the foregoing character another single time.
I only made this much reference to explain how I came to remember the words, for I did remember them, and they set me thinking. I cogitated upon the occasion of them, first, the secret, if there was one, of the spleen they exhibited, and could only rid myself of this fruitless consideration of what excited my curiosity by the consideration of the subject philosophically.Why is it women always look with angry eyes on the widow who is suspected of intentions of marrying? That's a conundrum.Why should a widow not marry?
A woman has learned through married experience to know the happiness of domestic society. She has adapted herself to its demands and its requirements. She has learned the true worth of man at his best. Having been cultivated in the direction of connubial relations, she has experienced a superior usefulness, a superior pleasure, a superior existence, and it is not in nature to take a step backward.She is possessed of a void in her existence which can be filled by nothing else life can offer. Her conceptions have been enlarged, and with a knowledge of the broadness there is in life the narrow confinements to which she is subject disqualifies her for the true usefulness for which she feels, however unconsciously, herself adapted.Again, she has learned to lean upon another. She has developed, too, the faculty of recognizing where her own positiveness must beasserted that society may profit best by her. She has become accustomed to an interchange of thought and views that is given only to the married woman, and in a consciousness of gentle consideration and certain encouragement that is found nowhere outside matrimony. Her life is transformed, she is transformed, and her hopes, her aspirations, her being is different from that it was before. And when left alone in the world by the unfortunate destiny of life must she always remain alone? Is there reason that she should refuse to rehabilitate herself in life's moving, breathing current, benefiting herself and blessing another, and, through herself and another, society? Surely not.I believe a widow should take "her new husband" whenever he offers himself in the person of a true, noble, generous man—one big enough in soul to be a worthy husband of a widow—for my opinion is that in most widows there is a superiority, born of tears and trials, perhaps, hard to find elsewhere, unless, indeed, it be in those wives who have been widows.

Street Arabs.

There is something about the street arab I like. He's tough, invariably, and it's seldom when he isn't kind hearted, too. He's an independent quantity, and he don't care how big the man is who offends him, he is ready, always, to give him the opinion of his actions.The street is the great school of sarcasm. Oh, what diabolically wicked things these street gamins learn to say with the most innocent air imaginable. And they are not always innocent, either, for if gesture or expression is needed they can supply it to an exact turn.
The street, too, is a place where the boy learns quickly the worldly estimate of mammon. He gets into the secrets of its power long before they should know the difference between a dime and a dollar.Children are naturally pretty good judges of human nature. That may be partially due to instinct, but it is often something more.
But there isn't a street gamin but can give you the true estimate of every familiar character in town.
Of course, you must know the gamin's vernacular, and his oddities and his extravagancies, his habits of exaggeration and the influence of his personal feelings toward the particular subject under treatment, and then you may get from him such a true picture that the subject himself would be frightened by the likeness to the original —that is, frightened or proud, as reason therefor might exist.Street gamins do not all become the worst men we have, nor can they make the best. The influences of the street are always bad, and the gamins are always more or less bad. But there is implanted a self-reliance and withal a generosity that goes far to redeem much that should not be there, but is. The street gamin often makes a strong, useful citizen, a leader in his line of business, and is always one who is neither carried skyward by imaginary prospects nor frightened by the plain cold figure of trial and disappointment. He is a philosopher, and teaches many a lesson of superior virtue which is edifying and beneficial.Smoke Honkomp & Schmidt's

FOUND AT LAST.

Is made up of solid, substantial links that cannot break.
On this chain hangs all public confidence. With the reputation we have, it will cause CONSTERNATION among competitors, for they know we do exactly as we say—when we announce that we are selling new TAPESTRY CARPETS for 40c per yd., and BODY BRUSSELS for 90c per yd., we mean it! We have the stock to select from and our prices are the lowest.Sedalia Carpet Co.
